PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Who would have thought we'd be living in isolation for weeks on end, for fear of catching a virus? I believe our souls must have chosen to have this experience.

Many are working from home. Some are struggling with home schooling children. Others are reading or binge watching shows on TV, Netflix, Foxtel or DVDs. Many are walking their dogs twice a day. Most are missing being with family and friends, instead speaking on the phone, using Facetime, Zoom or Skype. Some are, financially deprived having lost jobs or had a downturn in business. There are those who are depressed or anxious about being confined to their homes and/or fearing catching the virus if they go out to the shops.

Of course we have no idea what will turn out to be the "new normal". Yet, the Earth is certainly benefiting by being so much cleaner. Now at last some of the restrictions are being lifted in Australia, with variations, depending on which State you're in. I'm curious about how we'll go back out into the world and what new paradigms may evolve. It's a good time to let go of fears, become more discerning and find out what you need to know, without getting immersed in all the negative news reporting.

I hope you are staying healthy, happy and are keeping positive. I look forward to seeing you as soon as we are able. In the meantime, do keep dowsing – on anything and everything.

Lyn Wood, President

HOSPITAL DOWSING PROTOCOLS

Lots to consider about how we can help friends and loved ones in hospital for an operation. (Editor)

Thanks to Raymon Grace's teachings, we now know we can dowse to help someone we care about when they are going into hospital.

Whether for a large or small operation we can use pendulum dowsing to focus intention for the best outcome.

Below is a suggested protocol and a variation.

If you don't know the name of the hospital or the exact location, just keep it to something general like "from the hospital where <patient> is having his/her operation today".

No direction – anti-clockwise

Clearing any non-beneficial energy from the car park, the hospital buildings, the staff, all patients and visitors of <Name of hospital> in <location> where <patient> is having his/her operation today.

Wait until your pendulum stops.

Yes direction – clockwise

Bringing in the most appropriate energy around <patient >, the surgeon/s, and the support staff at the <Name of hospital> in <location>, to enable them to work efficiently, cheerfully and professionally for the best possible outcome of <patient>. Thank you.

Wait until your pendulum stops.

If you hear about an operation after the event, simply adapt this approach as follows:

No direction – anti-clockwise

Clearing any non-beneficial energy picked up in the car park, the hospital buildings, the staff, all patients and visitors of <Name of hospital> in <location> where <patient> had his/her operation.

Wait until your pendulum stops.

Yes direction – clockwise

Bringing in the most appropriate energy for the best possible outcome and the highest good of <patient > for a speedy recovery. This or something better as safe and appropriate, across all time, dimensions, space and reality, supported by the best dowsing and spiritual medical experts. Thank you.

Wait until your pendulum stops.

BENEFITS OF BICARBONATE OF SODA FOR HEALTH

Thanks to our DSV Committee member, Bev Ellison, for this welcome contribution.

Most people are familiar with using bicarbonate soda (baking soda, not to be confused with baking powder) in cooking and cleaning, yet it has so many far-reaching benefits beyond those areas.

According to Dr. Mark Sircus, we can use it to help with our health, which is sure to be of interest at this time of the coronavirus / covid-19.

I have personally found noticeable relief with bicarb soda. Well before the isolation, I felt a sore throat coming on and my glands were a little swollen, so I took a teaspoon of bicarb soda in water before bed. To my delight both symptoms had gone the next morning. Later on, when I had a sign of a cold, I took the same remedy again and all signs disappeared. I've also been helped with cold sores. I took a large teaspoon of bicarb in water before bed, woke at 3.30am with a very sore and dry lip, so took another ½ teaspoon in water and went back to bed. By morning the lump (size of a pea) had totally disappeared, along with the pain. I've used it successfully for aching teeth and have often given the mixture to family and friends who have marvelled at how easily it works.

DIRTY DOWSING

By Maggie Lowe. Reprinted with the kind permission of the Dowsters Society of NSW. This article first appeared in the Journal of the British Society of Dowsters, Sept 2005.

After attending the Dowsters Society of NSW "Learn to Dowse" seminar, I had my first "Eureka!" dowsing moment.

My challenging, rocky Blue Mountains garden consumed me with frustration when plants didn't get started, much less thrive. Digging a planting hole for a small plant produced pebbles, stones and occasionally a rock requiring mattock and crowbar. Hard work for a skinny sixty-odd year old with a dodgy back. Then having watered-in, water would gush out metres away indicating that I had planted above a rock shelf. No wonder they died, the water just ran away from their roots.

About to plant a native mint bush, the penny dropped - "use the pendulum".

DOWSING PESKY INSECTS

An extract article from 2017 submitted by two anonymous DSV Members. It's a bit of a departure from how we generally dowse, but I use it with great success when spiders, ants and their mates, every time they make an unwelcome visit (Ed).

While prospecting in central Victoria in the recent school holidays, we were digging for a target but noticed we had a lot of company. We had been lined up for breakfast. Within 10 minutes both of us had four to five mosquito bites with many more to come, thanks to squadrons of mosquitos.

As relative novices our default setting quickly turns to 'out with the pendulum' as it seems most of our present inspiration springs from need.

So, with quite some need and a lot of intent (self-preservation) we asked 'Can you keep the mosquitos away from us?' Answer, Yes. 'Will you keep the mosquitos away?' Yes. We then quickly gave this instruction. 'Please keep the mosquitoes, flies and ants away from us now'. We didn't have any real expectation but almost immediately the mosquitos stopped landing.

After a while we twigged that we could use this method at home where we'd had a running battle with little black ants. So as soon as we returned home we applied a similar instruction for our house. After a week we only found one ant and it was in a hurry to leave. It appears that our house is now ant and mosquito free.

As dowsing newcomers, we believe our best approach to our dowsing is to keep a totally open mind and ask lots of questions of people, but particularly of the pendulum. This has worked well for us so far and we are learning to become more imaginative in our applications. (Anonymous)

PS If any pesky insects return, ask the pendulum if it can increase the strength of the repellent and if it's a 'Yes', request that it does.
